

Job Description – Senior Game Programmer

Arkadium, Inc., a leading game developer and distributor in NYC, is seeking a highly motivated, talented, creative and experienced Senior Flash Programmer to join the team in their NYC office. Arkadium offers an exciting work environment and we want you to bring an enthusiastic and fun attitude to work every day. Qualified individuals will have professional experience with web development, object oriented coding, and game programming.

Responsibilities

- Develop high quality new games following Arkadium's standards and practices
- Review Specs for Technical Problems and solutions
- Help Other Programmers with solutions for problems
- Communicate often, and effectively with artists, project managers and other team members
- Contribute game ideas
- Research and recommend new technology and efficiencies to help all programmers
- Lead small teams of programmers in NY and foreign offices when developing complex projects.
- Travel when necessary to Ukraine to meet with programmers about projects
- Manage the performance and behaviors of subordinate programmers
- Respond to challenges quickly to solve problems in other developers code

Qualifications

- Solid object oriented programming experience 4+ Years
- Actionscript experience (as3)
- Good communication and ability to write clear documentation and work with other team members.
- Experience with game development with published titles
- A history of handling multiple tasks and responding unexpected challenges
- Must be motivated to get projects done on time
- Solid comprehension of source control
- Experience with a variety of web programming languages and their interface with flash

About the Company

Arkadium is a leading provider of Facebook games, casual games, and custom advergames. Started in 2001, the Company is focused, young and aggressive. We have built an extremely talented team and have a great loft office in the Flat Iron neighborhood of New York City We regularly laugh, listen to music and play games. Yes, we actually like coming to work everyday!

Compensation Based on Experience.

Please send résumé and online portfolio URL to jobs@arkadium.com with "Senior Game Programmer" in the subject field.